this is a publication about a website that contains many pages including a page (called PROPAGANDA) where this publication is hosted.

i made this with the intent of creating a print-based extension to wonderrednow.com. much like wonderrednow.com, I intend to make additions to this zine over time. think of this zine as a “behind the scenes” as well as promotion for wonderrednow.com.

you can also expect print-based re-interpretations of wonderrednow.com pages, unused contents and reflections about creation.

I don't find myself rushing to finish my work much. I like to take things slowly.

I don't actually update wonderrednow.com all that much, just when I have good ideas that I take the time to work on.

Something I like about zines is how the process of photocopying leaves images with a unique decay. This inspires how I edit and use images on wonderrednow.com.

wonderrednow.com has a simple concept behind its name, wonder forwards and then wonder backwards. I thought it suited a site that I wanted to be a large compilation of pages to explore.
